HANDCUFFS ON MERCHANT.

Story Told by Officers Differs from Version He Gives.

Portsmouth, Va., Echruary 23. Police head-quarters got a hurry-up call about 2 o'clock Thursday night from Effingham and Scott Streets. A feminine voice told Captain Cult-pepper that two tramps had tavaded Mr. Shearer's store and were beating him up. Acting-Sergeant Page went up there to investigate. Shearer's store and were beating him up, Acting-Sergeant Page went up there to investigate.

A little while afterward the police patrol rolled up to headquarters and Substitute Parelinan Hayden get out with a guard from the State reformatory, who had been trying with the substitute to locate a reformatory fugitive in this city. They had with them H. Shearer, alous sivily years old a grocer, at Effingham and Scott Streets. He were a pair of haudouffs.

Substitute Hayden told Captain Culpepper that he had gone into Mr. Shearers' store with the reformatory guard to get a new nair of socks, and while there Mr. Shearer had acked him to put his handcuffs on his wrists, which he did. Then, according to the substitute, the grocer refused to allow him to take them off, and he had to bring him to the station-house. Hayden said he told him he was a policeman.

Mr. Shearer declared that the two men had come into his place, and he didn't know who they were. One of them vent around rapping on barrels and boxes and asking him le the was a first of them.

Captain Culpepper told him he had no charge against him, but told him he was a fraid of them.

Captain Culpepper told him he had no charge against him, but told him if he cared to take the matter any further he could see Mayor Hope to-duy.

BIBLE LOST ON BATTLEFIELD.

Restored to Son of Owner After Many Years.

Amherst Va., February 23. - Waiter E. Robinson, of this county, has recently come into possession, through the efforts of C. P. Atwood, of Anamosa, lowa, of a Bible which has a very interesting story. The book belonged to Mr. Robinson's father and was lost on the battlefield at Appointation Counthouse in April, 1888. The name had become so faded that it was not readable, but on the flyleaf was written the following: "Should I die on the battlefield or in a hospital please send this to my mother. Mrs. C. P. Robinson, Washington, Wilkes County, Ga." Mr. Atwood had kept the book for a number of years, and wishing to restore it to the original owners or their descendants, went to the postmaster in his town, who communicated with the postmaster in Washington, Gs., through whom it was learned that some of the Robinsons of that State had come to Amherst County, Va. The postmaster here was written to, with the result that W. E. Robinson was docated and the book delivered to him. He prizes it very highly.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Believes It Would Result in Better Conditions.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] New York, February 28 .- Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt to-day expressed herself as being in favor of the proposition of taking the handling of the vice problem away from the plain clothes men and putting it under women police. In a letter to Senator Wagner, who is chairman of the legislative committee investigating police conditions, Mrs. Vanderbilt wrote that she was deeply interested in the treat-ment of the unfortunate women of the streets, and thought that Miss Lillian Wald's proposed plan of keeping the police away from the women would nean good results for the women and

"I have not given much study to the subject of women police," she wrote, "but Miss Wald's idea that women officers could best handle the problem appeals to me."

SMALLPOX ACCOUNTS SETTLED. Cost of Disease in Hallfax Already Reaches Nearly $1,000, [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Houston, Va., February 28,—The Halifax Board of Supervisors was in session this week with all of the members present. Many road matters of minor importance were discussed and attended to. A large number of small-pox accounts presented by doctors merchants, nurses and others, and amounting in the aggregate to $375, were paid. Up to the present date the county has paid nearly $1.000 on account of the smallpox, and it is estimated that before the summer this disease will have cost Halifax $2.000.

TIME EXPIRES

Last Day for Corporations to File Federal Tax Returns.

When the office of the United States collector of internal revenue closes this evening at 6 o'clock all corporations which have not filed their tax returns for 1912 will automatically become liable to penalties ranging from $1,990 to $5,000. Between 600 and 700 corporations up to last night had failed to have their blanks in the hands of the collector. Nearly 6,000 have complied with the law.

Although the time limit actually expires to-night, concessions will be made by the collector to corporations unavoidably delayed in the return of their statements. Even on Monday the collector will receive and file reporta which the postal stamp shows to have been mailed before 12 o'clock to-night.

Property of Hanson Will Go as He At a meeting of the Business Men's Association held last night, it was decided to contract with the Chautauqua Atlanta, Ga., February 28.—In a decision handed down yesterday the State Supreme Court declared valid the will of the late Major J. F. Hanson, prestedent of the Central of Georgia Railroad, disposing of an estate valued at nearly $1,000,000. The will had been attacked by his daughter. Mrs. Fannie Hanson White, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Estelle C. Hanson, on the ground that certain restrictions against members of their family who had become members of the theosophist colony at Point Loma, Cal., were written under undue influence exerted by another daughter. Mrs. Annie Hanson Garrett.

In the settlement Mrs. Cora C. Hanson, the widow, receives $56,000 in sections, which is in the nature of an alimony settlement estimated from $4,000$, and which was to be in lieu of any claims or interest in the estate.
